GIRL DROWNS WHEN BATHING IN CREEK NORTH OF BRANSON

Miss Wilma Patterson, Aged 14, Daughter of Prominent Merchant, Either Seized with Cramps or Stepped Into Hole

Branson, Mo., June 14.—Miss Wilma Patterson, aged 14 years, daughter of Robert J. Patterson, Jr., a prominent merchant of Branson, was drowned in Roark creek, a tributary of Lake Taneycomo, about 6:30 o'clock this evening. Miss Patterson was a member of a swimming party that had gone to the banks of the creek just north of town and it is thought that she was seized with cramps or that she stepped into a treacherous water hole. The girl dragged with her a younger companion, little Helen Heflin, who managed to escape from the clutches of the drowning girl and swim back to the bank.

WORK BEING DONE TOWARD NEW BRIDGE ACROSS FLAT CREEK

The farmers in the vicinity of Cato who are to haul the material for the steel bridge across Flat creek near Cato, are getting ready to do the hauling. It is reported that the cement has been received at Aurora and will be hauled at once and that the steel is expected soon.

Glen Collins said Saturday while in Cassville that the building of this bridge would mark the beginning of great improvements on the roads of that locality. It has encouraged the farmers to plan for general improvement on all of the roads in that section.—Cassville Republican.

PRESIDENT WOODROW WILSON

GREAT ENTHUSIASM DURING GLYNN'S KEYNOTE SPEECH

St. Louis Democratic Convention Hears the Governor's Speech with Cheers and Wild Demonstrations

St. Louis, June 14.—The democratic national convention, at its first session today, heard the keynote speech of Americanism and peace, preparedness and prosperity sounded by former Governor Glynn of New York as temporary chairman, and with a high pitch of enthusiasm, emphatically registered by demonstration after demonstration, its approval of President Wilson's peaceful conduct of foreign stem so he could go on. It was plain that the telling points on the delegates were the recital of President Wilson's effort to keep the country at peace.

"This policy," he said, "may not satisfy the fire-eater and the swash-buckler, but it does satisfy the mothers of the land, at whose hearth and fireside no jingoistic war has placed an empty chair. It does satisfy the daughters of this land from whom bluster and brag have sent no loving brother to the dissolution of the grave. It does satisfy the fathers of this land and the sons of this land who will fight for our flag and die for our flag when reason primes the rifle, when honor draws the sword and when justice breathes a blessing on the standard they uphold."

SAFEGUARD OTHER PEOPLE'S CHILDREN

"Whenever it is necessary, for the welfare of the children, to insist that one or more families be quarantined," says the July Woman's Home Companion, "it is astonishing how frequently this is taken as a personal insult by the parents. It seems to be considered as an infringement upon the family rights and not for one moment to be tolerated."

This editorial has to do with a widespread evil. It says further:

"A striking instance came to notice recently in a suburban town. For some weeks sporadic cases of diphtheria had been appearing. Every care was taken to find out the source of the trouble—but all to no avail. There were carriers at large, and no one knew who was responsible. So it was decided to make a systematic examination of the throats of the school children, and to send cultures of all suspicious-looking cases to the laboratory. It was found that twenty-five per cent of these cultures gave a positive reaction, so, of course, these children were promptly banished, and quarantine ordered by the board of health. The nature of the work and the necessity for these precautions were explained to the parents in every instance; nevertheless, some of these same parents were very angry, and tried various devices to break the quarantine. One of the mothers threatened a law suit unless her child was promptly taken back to school and the sign put on her house by order of the board of health immediately removed."

"Another mother entirely ignored the notice sent to her, and flatly refused to keep her child in the house, though she knew he was not well when she sent him to school. It was several hours after this child had been sent home before the mother could be brought to terms. Meanwhile, to spite the authorities who had perpetrated this outrage upon her family by barring her boy out of school, she sent him over to one of her neighbors to play with the children. Two of these children promptly contracted diphtheria, and the younger one, scarcely more than a baby, developed a malignant type and died in two days. It

WASTES $80,000 ON ROADS

In Twenty Years the Present Annual Expenditures will Aggregate More Than Permanent System of 202 Miles Would Cost

Liberty, Mo., June 14.—Clay County spent $80,000 last year grading, dragging and otherwise temporizing with its dirt roads trying to make them passable. Most of the winter and a large part of the summer they were not. The money largely was wasted.

Clay county assumes no special blame for this poor investment. It merely did what dozens of other Missouri counties are doing, except that being richer than most counties it had more money to waste. However, it does assume responsibility for the future. It has been giving close attention to the question since a bond issue for permanent roads was proposed, and it has discovered to its amazement that at the present rate of expenditure on dirt roads it actually will spend more money in twenty years than the entire cost of building and maintaining a complete system of 202 miles of hard roads under the bond plan.

To reduce it to figures the permanent roads will cost 1 1/4 million dollars. There is twenty years to pay. Twenty years at $80,000 a year for dirt roads will cost $1,600,000, and no roads either.

The convention, which had gotten under way with such perfunctory demonstrations as mark every national gathering of the kind, soon stirred itself into roaring cheers as Chairman Glynn cited historic parallels to show that other presidents, including republicans, had adjusted threatening foreign situations without resort to war.

"The policy of the administration," he declared, "has been just as American as the American flag itself."

As he went down the list of presidents, recounting their action to avoid war, the delegates caught the spirit of his argument, and as he referred to each particular president some delegate would call: "What did he do?"

"He settled the trouble by negotiation," was the reply which Glynn invariably returned and the convention would roar its approval. William J. Bryan, as a newspaper correspondent in the press stand, wept with emotion as Glynn pictured the victories of peace, but he laughed with the crowd when a Texas delegate, interrupting Glynn, leaped to his chair and cried: "And don't forget that policy also is satisfactory to William J. Bryan."

Aside from a sixteen-minute demonstration when Chairman Glynn's speech was sprinkled with demonstrations which he found it difficult to

The last of the words were drowned out in a roar of applause that swept the Coliseum.

"Repeat it," cried the delegates.

"Repeat it," responded Mr. Glynn, and he did, to applause and cheering.

No other president since the Civil war, Mr. Glynn told the convention, had faced such crucial problems, none had displayed a grasp of statesmanship more profound.

After hearing the keynote speech, the convention adjourned until 11 o'clock tomorrow. Committees then went into session to prepare their work for the convention.

WILSON AGAINST JUDGE PLANK

Asks the Democratic Convention Not to Play Petty Politics

Washington, June 14.—Efforts to insert a plank in the Democratic platform favoring a law to prohibit federal judges from leaving the bench to accept elective office will not be countenanced by President Wilson. Administration officials let it be known that the President had sent word to St. Louis that he did not want petty politics played.
